

From a Book of Hours (s.XV)

Hours of the Holy Sacrament or Corpus Christi

inc. Me intende. Domine ad adiuvandum me festina expl. Corporis misterium pange

Parchment, 78 x 83 mm, script occupies entire space. A part of a ?column or a?

small manuscript; ten lines; ruling in red with single vertical bounding lines. Lines 7 mm apart

Script* A clear well-written bastard of the French or Flemish type, with the ascender of round d bent back towards the right; almost upright script with strong tapered shafts on s and f; left shaft of v curves over the letter to the right

Punctuation* Punctus on line for main pause

Abbreviations* Line above the letter to indicate missing -*m

Decoration* Pretty 2-line initial coloured black, gold, red and green, line 10; 1-line initials on lines 2, 4 and 5. On lines 1, 3, 4 and 5, decorative filling in alternate blue with gold, red with gold; line 10 written in blue

Provenance* Unknown