

A photograph of a medieval manuscript page. The page is oriented vertically and contains two columns of Latin text written in a Gothic script on light-colored, slightly aged paper. The text is arranged in two-line staves. The left column begins with "quæxer" and ends with "post". The right column begins with "re tua" and ends with "esar". The script is characterized by its rounded forms and the use of ligatures.

quæxer
quidē
gnūset
b; ut tu
Quā ob
r. & pcel
ledit ad
neū def
ogtcuit.
litrū tū
in nudē spacio c
iebat. si
mors
moniu
o eī au
ndens
r. ultr.
sedcūs
rei ocul
id post

re tua
tūtar
ju redū
o alia
rē se
liūquē
lobol
erno
nōco
xtpu
ūqpp
corxg
edias
laexe
rqde
dieat.
& p& xpo
ileto
ilimai
esar