

Fragment of a Latin manuscript containing a glossary. The text is arranged in three columns and includes numerous entries with Latin words and their corresponding glosses. Some words are underlined in red ink. The manuscript shows signs of age and wear, with some ink bleed-through from the reverse side.

