

the following words from the "Ethics of Immanuel Kant":
"The first of these duties are given to us by reason as the chief duty of man to himself and to God. This is a law which reveals itself to him.
Your thoughts are without shame you have no wish or passion to offend your parents."