

that all the treisours of his land had be brought to an ende as it was said be fore. Now here ye shal see how traitourly kyng Edward was desceyued & how meruoulsly & boldely the scoottes did of Werre, for James douglas with a. men of armes rode thurgh oute the hoste of kyng Edward the same nyght the scoottes were scaped to Ward hir owne contre as is aboue said till that they come to the kynges pa uilon & quelled there many men in hir beddes & aied some Maibard Maibard & an othir tyme a douglas a douglas, wherfor the kyng that was in his pailon & moche othir folke were wonder sore af fraid, but blissed be almyghty god the kyng was not taken & in grette pill was the reame of England. And that nyght the mo ne shone full clere & bright & for all the kynges men the scoottes a scaped harmeles. And in the morwe when the kyng wist that the scoottes were ascaped in to hir contre he was wonder soze & full herke ly w. pt with his ponge pie, and yet wist he not who hym had don that treson, but that fals treson was full well y knowe a good whi le after as the stone telleth. The kyng Edward come ayne the to york full sorowfull & his hoste departed & every man went in to his owne contre with full senny chere & morning semblant & the ke nauces toke hir leue & went in to hir owne contre, & the kyng for hir trauai le hugely hem re Warded. And for encheson of that Diage the kyng had dispendid moche of his tresour & wasted. And in that tyme were seyne ii. mones in the firmament that one was clere & that othir was derke as may myzt tho see thurgh oute the world & a grette debate was that same tyme ayens pope Johan the xxij. aft sent petre and the Emperour of Almayne tho made him Emperour ayens the popes wyll. that tho he be his see at Nunion. wherfor p Emperour made his aie at rome & ordeyned an othir pope that hight Nicholas that was a fewre menour, & that was ayens the right of holy church, wherfor he was cursed & the wyder of that othir pope sone was leid. And for encheson that such meruailles were seyne men said that the world was nygh at an ende.

Of the deeth of kyng Edward of Carnaruan. Ca. c. 127
And now go we ayne to Sir Edward of Carnaruan that was kyng some tyme of Englonde, and was put a doun of his dignite, Alas for his tribulation and soze W. that hym be fell thurgh fals counceill that he leued, and truste vpon to moche that after ward were desceyued thurgh hir falsnesse as god wolde. And this Edward of Carnaruan was in the castell of Berkeley vnder the keeping of sir morys of Berkeley & he
