

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Latin, covering the page. The text is arranged in approximately 30 lines, with some lines starting with large initial letters. The script is dense and characteristic of the 15th or 16th century. There are some ink blots and a large blue mark at the bottom right of the page.