

The fragment shows a portion of an astronomical table. The text is written in a historical script, likely Latin, and is organized into columns and rows. The numbers are arranged in a way that suggests a calculation or a sequence of values. The paper is aged and shows signs of wear, including tears and discoloration.

Alcafricano

54