

This manuscript page, folio 584r of MS Typ 584, contains a detailed diagram of the Seven Planets (Septenarium pictum). The diagram is a circular arrangement of seven planets, each depicted in a circular frame with a human-like figure. The planets are arranged in a circle, with lines connecting them to form a larger circle. The figures are: Saturnus (top), Iovis (top-right), Martis (right), Solis (bottom-right), Mercurii (bottom), Lunae (bottom-left), and Venus (left). Each planet is accompanied by Latin text describing its characteristics and influence. The diagram is surrounded by dense Latin text in columns, which includes various astronomical and astrological observations. The text is written in a medieval Gothic script, with some words in red ink (rubrication). The overall layout is highly organized and visually rich, typical of medieval scientific and astrological manuscripts.

License: public_domain – Cambridge, MA, Harvard University, Houghton Library, MS Typ 584, recto – Septenarium pictum (<https://fragmentarium.ms/view/page/F-kdne/8854/66806>)