N.o 6.

Mr. Wanley. This is a Fragment of some such Notes as y former, upon some other Author. I doubt whether this was written by an English hand, though there be a mixture of the English Letter in it. But it seems to be written about the latter End of the 10th (or beginning of the 11th) Century, & Consequently about 700 Years old.

N.o 7.

Mr. Wanley. This is a Fragment of Priscian's Grammar, &c. seems to have been written here in England not much after N.o 6. & so near 700 yrs old.

N.o 8.

Mr. Wanley. This is a Leaf of an Antiphonal, written (for ought I know) in England, and ('tis likely, about the latter end of the 12.th Century, & so full 500 years old.

This Leaf shews that they then laid their Gold (the greatest part whereof is nately wash'd off in the past in this Case has been unfortuupon a Yellow, or red ground ing) indifferently, either

As for the Musick; I see 'tis upon 4 Lines. But there are MSS in the Bodleian Library, where the Musick is prickt but upon one Line; & many without any Lines at all; as is the Musick of the Greeks, Russes, & Armenians at this day. In wch Latin Manuscripts, the difference of sound is to be learned from the Situation of the Notes.
