

Fragment of a manuscript page with Latin text in two columns. The text is written in a Gothic script with red initials and rubrics. The fragment is heavily damaged, with significant tearing and missing sections of paper. The text is arranged in two columns, with a large initial 'D' at the start of the second column. The fragment is placed on a dark background.

B

