

This image shows a page from an antique manuscript, likely a historical or hagiographical text. The page is filled with dense Latin text written in a Gothic script. The parchment is aged and stained, with significant water damage and holes along the left edge. Large, ornate initials in red, blue, and gold are used to mark the beginning of new sections. The text discusses the life and reign of Emperor Constantine, mentioning his conversion to Christianity, the building of the Hagia Sophia, and his military campaigns. The script is characteristic of medieval book production, with varying line lengths and some marginalia.
