A

The image shows a single, aged, and stained leaf of a manuscript. The leaf is light brown/tan with significant water damage and discoloration. Faint, handwritten text in a Gothic script is visible, particularly on the right side. The leaf is bound on the left edge, and the binding material is visible.
