This image shows a page from the Lindisfarne Gospels, featuring intricate interlaced knotwork and zoomorphic designs. The page is decorated with blue and red ink on parchment. At the top right, there is a large, stylized head of a creature, possibly a dragon or a bird, with a long, flowing mane or tail. Below this, there are several horizontal bands of knotwork, including a wide band with a repeating geometric pattern. The central part of the page features a rectangular panel with a cross-hatched pattern, flanked by stylized, interlaced designs. The bottom of the page is decorated with a wide band of knotwork, including a repeating geometric pattern. The overall design is highly detailed and characteristic of the Lindisfarne style.
