

A single page from a medieval manuscript. At the top left, there is a large, ornate initial 'C' in blue and gold, with delicate red and black penwork flourishes extending downwards and to the right. Below this initial, the page is filled with two columns of dense Latin text written in a Gothic script. The text is in a dark brown ink, with some words highlighted in red or blue ink. The parchment appears aged and slightly yellowed.

